REVIEW OF MARKETS FINANCIAL AND COMMBRCIAL

tic ks, Money, Exchange, Bonds, Grain, Cotton, Provisions, Etc.

New York, Jan. 28.—The market was quite irregular to-day. The opening was strong in spite of the irregularity of the Londón market because, in part of the absence of disquieting Philippine advices, which apparently had been expected by the traders who started covering short contracts. Presently there was a renewed attack on values on predictions of an unfavorable bank statement, but when the statement appeared it upset all calculations by being very favorable. This was the signal for the re-purchase of stock sold earlier, which gave a strong tone to the closing. There were some recessions in the railroads, however, on the evening up of contracts for the week. Sugar and Glucose gained over a point each, but it seemed to be the impression of traders that Sugar was advanced in the interest of sellers, while in other quarters the simultaneous advance of Glucose and Sugar was surmised to presage favorable trade developments.

Among the Pacifics there was an advance of a point in Northern and Southern. The movement in Northern Pacific was attributed to more confident gossip regarding its dividend standing.

Pacific was attributed to more confident gossip regarding its dividend standing.

Pacific Mail was strong on the more favorable outlook for the mail subsidy bill in Congress. Minneapolis and St. Louis at one time displayed strength on the possibility of the first preferred stock being retired. The prospective advance in coal rates at Western points was reflected in some strength in Reading.

Among the low priced shares St. Jouis and Suthwestern preferred sock second no.

Among the industrials American Steel preferred and American Steel preferred and American Steel preferred and American St.

Pronounced strength characterized the bond trading to-day, During the week the market showed less feverishness than in stocks. Many issues were brought prominently forward owing to dissemination of rumors regarding their standing toward a union with other properties. Dealings were on an immense scale, with purchases for out of town account exceptionally large.
